STATE OF WEST VIRGINIA,
ADJUTANT GENERAL'S OFFICE,
Wheeling, January 8th, 1866. }

His Excellency,

ARTHUR I. BOREMAN,

Governor of West Virginia:

GOVERNOR:—I have the honor to submit herewith my Annual Report, for the year ending December 31st, 1865.

I am, Very Respectfully,

Your Obedient Servant,

F. P. PEIRPOINT,

Adjutant General.

R E P O R T .

SINCE the date of my last Annual Report, the terrible war in which this nation has been engaged for more than four years, has ended. The supremacy of the Government has been maintained; it has resulted in the complete triumph of the Government in the suppression of all resistance to its laws. Peace has been restored, and the flag of our country floats in every precinct of the nation. Hundreds and thousands of those who were then in arms for the preservation of our free institutions, and for the suppression of treason, have returned to their homes and to peaceful pursuits.

To keep and preserve a record of the part the people of this State have borne in the great struggle just ended, has been the object of this Office. This, in connection with former Reports from this office, is intended to give the military history of every officer and soldier who has been in the service of the United States, in West Virginia organizations. The record is an imperfect one, I know, but the best I have been able to prepare under the many embarrassing circumstances with which the work has been attended. When I entered upon the discharge of the duties of this office, at the date of the organization of this State, I found the record of troops furnished, very incomplete indeed—unavoidably so—as previous to the organization of the “reorganized and restored” government of Virginia, several companies had been mustered into the United States service, of which there was no record in the State, there being no office, at that time, in which to keep such records, and subsequently there was great neglect on the part of the mustering officers, whose duty it was to forward to this office copies of the muster-in rolls of troops as they were mustered into service.

It has been very difficult for me to complete these records, but I have endeavored to supply the deficiencies the best I could, with the small appropriations and clerical force allowed me. Much yet remains to be done to complete these records for preservation in this office, much, which materially interests every soldier who has ever been in the United States service from this State. The amount of labor to be performed in an office of this character, to keep proper and correct records, has not been understood by our Legislature, and sufficient appropriations have not been made to keep the office as it should have been kept.

In this report I have endeavored to complete the histories of the different regiments and companies in the service from this State, and it may be considered as a supplement, rather, to my report for last year.

Appendix "A," hereto annexed, is a Roster of the field, staff and company officers of the various organizations, showing the alterations and casualties in each, from the dates of original organization, to the dates of muster-out and final discharge. This appendix is necessarily a repetition of a portion of former reports, but as no complete roster has ever been published, I deemed it proper, as a matter of convenience for reference, and to complete the record, to publish it in this report.

Appendix "B" embraces a list of all recruits, substitutes and drafted men, mustered into service since the date of my last report, showing to what organizations they were assigned, &c.; also a list of all deaths, discharges and desertions in all the different organizations, since their muster into service, (except discharges by reason of expiration of term of service, and those discharged under General Orders from the War Department, directing the discharge of all whose term of service expired prior to the 1st of October, 1865.) I found it necessary to make this full exhibit of deaths, desertions, &c., from the fact that in former reports many are reported as deserters, &c., who were afterward found to be prisoners of war. This appendix also contains a list of all who were reported as prisoners of war upon the muster-out rolls of the different organizations; also a complete list of colored men mustered into the United States' service to the credit of this State, which was not given in my last Annual Report, because I had not complete records of them.

Appendix "C" is a statement of the organization and discharge of the companies of "State Guards," organized in the border counties of the State, for the protection of such counties against the marauding bands of guerillas which have continually infested them since the commencement of the war. These companies were organized and paid by the State; many of them were in the service for nearly two years, and some of them for a longer period. Although they have been maintained at considerable expense to the State, it cannot be doubted that they have rendered very efficient service in the counties for which they were organized; they have been a great protection to the loyal people of the border counties, and have aided materially in the enforcement of the civil laws therein; without which those counties must have been abandoned by the loyal people, thus depriving them of representation in the Legislature of the State, and the State of considerable revenue.

About the 1st of June, at the request of the Secretary of War, nearly all these companies were discharged, and their arms and other State property turned over to the Quartermaster General of the State, under orders issued from this office, by direction of your Excellency. Regular discharges were prepared for each member of these companies and signed by your order, a record of which has been kept, that the men who have been engaged in this service may have the benefit of any legislation that may hereafter be made in their interest. The conduct of these companies with few exceptions, has been uniformly good, considering the slight restraint under which they were unavoidably held. Much objection was made against the organization of such companies, for fear that they would, under the slight authority given them, and by virtue of their power, go beyond their authority, and commit unwarrantable depredations. In this, however, their most bitter enemies have been disappointed, and the most sanguine hopes of their friends more than realized.

Appendix "D" shows the enrollment of the State by counties, as revised and corrected, up to the 1st day of January, 1865, by the officers of the Provost Marshal General's Department; it also exhibits a statement of the quotas and credits of the counties of the State, since the call of the President for troops, dated March 14th, 1864, showing the quotas and credits under that and each subsequent call, with the excess and deficiencies under each to the date of the last call. For this statement I am indebted to Major E. P. Hudson, Acting Assistant Provost Marshal General for this State. This appendix also contains a statement of the account of the State with the United States, with respect to the troops required and furnished under the different calls of the President since the commencement of the war. It will be seen by this account that the State was deficient, on the 31st day of August, 1865, two thousand six hundred and sixty-three men; and by reference to the preceding statement, it will be seen that this deficiency exists principally in the border counties of the State, in which no attempt was made to enforce a draft, and in which, if an attempt had been made, it is believed it would not have resulted very favorably, either to the State or to the Government. It would have taken nearly all the loyal men in them, and would have driven the disloyal into the ranks of the rebel armies, which at that time could not have been prevented.

QUOTAS AND CREDITS.

In the statement in my last annual report, it was shown that the State had furnished, to the first of December, 1864, twenty-six thousand five hundred and forty men. The men furnished prior to the call of July 18th for a shorter term than three years having been reduced to a three years' standard. On the 30th of April, 1865, the State had furnished, of all arms and for different terms of service, thirty-one thousand eight hundred and eighty-four men, as per acknowledgment of the Provost Marshal General of the United States, under date of September 2, 1865.

Under the call of December 19th, 1864, for three hundred thousand men, the revised quota of the State was announced by the Provost Marshal General's Department as being four thousand four hundred and thirty-one. This quota was not announced until the 23d day of January, 1865. In the first announcement of the quota, on the 23d of December, 1864, the quota of the counties composing the First Congressional District, was only four men, and as these were furnished at once, no further effort was made to recruit in those counties until the announcement of the revised quota, one month afterward; there were then required from the First Congressional District fifteen hundred and ninety-three instead of four men. This announcement created great anxiety in the counties composing the district, as it was feared they would be deprived of the benefits of the surplus credits previously promised them, as nearly every county had an apparent excess of credits over all calls, and sufficient to cover the quota under an additional call of three hundred thousand men, supposing that the assessment of the quota had been made upon the same basis, and according to the same rule adopted for the assessment of quotas under previous calls for troops. The revised quota of the State seemed to be largely in excess of what was believed to be a just proportion for the State to furnish under the call for three hundred thousand men.

Soon after the announcement of this revised quota, by direction of your Excellency, I proceeded to Washington City, in company with Colonel George W. Brown, Quartermaster General of the State, for the purpose of ascertaining the basis upon which the quota had been assessed, and if possible, to procure such reduction in the quota as at that time it seemed we were entitled. The result of my interview with the War Department was entirely satisfactory. The call of the President was for three hundred thousand men, to be actually furnished, over and above the credits to which the several States were entitled. I succeeded, however, in procuring an additional credit, upon our quota, of three hundred and thirty-seven men, which had previously been overlooked by the War Department.

Immediately after my return from Washington City a satisfactory explanation having been made to the people, they again went to work with a determination to fill the quotas of the different counties, and many were filled before the draft was ordered.

Since the commencement of the war only two hundred and fifty-seven men have been drafted and held to service, and only five hundred and seventy-three substitutes have been furnished, and our records will show as few desertions from the service as, perhaps, any State in the Union in proportion to the number of men furnished.

In the statement of quotas and credits before referred to in Appendix "D," it will be seen that it only extends to the call under date of March 14th, 1864. Previous to that time no quotas were ever assigned to counties, for the reason that there never had been a complete and satisfactory enrollment of the State, and that the State had, up to that date, always had an excess over all calls, and had a credit upon the quota under that call of five hundred and fifty men. Many complaints have been made from different counties that they did not receive proper credits for men furnished prior to that date; these complaints were, perhaps, not without good cause, but it was impossible then to ascertain the exact and proper credits to which they were entitled, as the muster-in rolls of troops did not show to what locality the men who had been mustered into service belonged; nor were there in possession of the War Department, or in this office, any data from which a satisfactory adjustment of the credits could have been made. An attempt was made in 1862 to ascertain the number of men furnished from the several counties, by Commissioners appointed for the purpose, by authority of the General Government, but the reports of these Commissioners were found to be very imperfect and inaccurate, so that they could not be relied upon in the adjustment of quotas and credits. When the first assignment of quotas was made, the best that could be done was to distribute the excess of credits the State then had pro rata to the several counties, agreeably to the enrollment in each, then made.

Since that time, however, an exact system of quotas and credits has been adopted and kept by the Provost Marshal General's Department. Since the establishment of this Bureau, in 1863, the volunteer recruiting service has been under its entire control, and the Acting Assistant Provost Marshal Generals of the States have been required to keep the accounts of credits for the State, counties and sub-districts.

It has been impossible for me, with the limited clerical force allowed me, to keep such a statement or account in convenient form. In counties in which local bounties were paid, I have issued to the soldiers credited to the various localities, certificates of muster and credit, from the muster-in rolls on file in this office, which they were required to furnish to the Boards of Supervisors to establish the credit in order to procure the bounty. This has required much labor which might have been avoided if I had been able to have kept such credits in convenient form. These have, however, been very accurately kept in the office of the Acting Assistant Provost Marshal General for the State, to which office I am indebted for much information respecting quotas and credits, which I could not have otherwise obtained without much labor.

LOCAL BOUNTIES.

By direction of Your Excellency I have addressed letters to the Boards of Supervisors of the several counties in the State, requesting an official statement of the amount of money expended in each for the payment of local bounties to soldiers ; as yet I have not received reports from all the counties, but sufficient to know that over one-and-a-half million of dollars have been expended for that purpose. A statement of the amount paid by each county is hereto annexed in Appendix "E."

WEST VIRGINIA TROOPS IN THE FIELD.

The several organizations from the State have contributed their full share toward the accomplishment of the glorious results which have been achieved, and it was the fortune of eight West Virginia regiments to be in at the death of the rebellion. These were all present and witnessed the surrender of the commander-in-chief of the rebel armies, and his immediate command. In this report I can only give a brief history of the operations of each organization since the 1st of January, 1865, the date at which the historical memoranda of each closes in my last report.

The 1st and 2d veteran, and the 6th, 13th, 14th, 17th infantry, and 1st artillery regiments have all been engaged during the year in guard duty on the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad, and in provost duty within the Department of West Virginia, except the 1st veteran infantry, and the 13th infantry regiments, and batteries C and E of the 1st artillery. The 1st veteran and 13th infantry regiments were on duty the principal portion of the time prior to muster-out in the Shenandoah Valley and at Staunton, Virginia, under command of Brigadier-General I. H. Duval, formerly Colonel of the 9th and 1st West Virginia veteran infantry. Batteries C and E being on duty near Washington, D. C. None of these organizations participated in any engagements during the year.

SEVENTH INFANTRY REGIMENT.

This regiment has been serving continuously in the army of the Potomac since July, 1862. From the 1st of January, 1865, to the date of muster-out, it was incorporated in the 2d Army Corps, and participated in all the engagements with that corps in the final campaign against Richmond, maintaining, during the whole time, its well deserved reputation for gallantry. Being armed with the Henry sixteen-shooting rifle it invariably occupied the advance, and was almost constantly on the skirmish line. I have not been able to obtain a report of the operations of the regiment in detail for this year, and regret exceedingly that I cannot give a more explicit account of its operations. It participated in the grand review at Washington City on the 24th of June, and was mustered out at Munson's Hill, Virginia, on the 1st day of July, whence it proceeded to this city and was paid off and finally discharged. Nearly all the drafted men from this State were assigned to this organization.

TENTH, ELEVENTH, TWELFTH AND FIFTEENTH INFANTRY REGIMENTS.

The First Division of the Army of West Virginia, embracing the 10th, 11th, 12th and 15th West Virginia Infantry Regiments, was incorporated in the 24th Army Corps in March, 1865, and formed the 3d Division of that Corps until it was broken up by the muster-out of troops. The Division was commanded in the final campaign of the war by Brevet Major-General John W. Turner.

The 10th, 11th and 15th regiments constituted the 1st Brigade of that Division, under the command of Brigadier-General (now Brevet Major-General) Thomas M. Harris, formerly Colonel of the 10th, whilst the 12th Regiment was incorporated in the 3d Brigade under command of Colonel William B. Curtis of the 12th.

The Division was ordered to the Long Bridge, on the Chickahominy, from the place of its encampment or winter quarters, at New Market, Virginia, eight miles below Richmond, on the 26th of March, to aid Gen'l Sheridan to effect a crossing of that stream on his way from the White House to the south side of James River; but on its arrival at the designated point found that General Sheridan had effected a crossing several miles below. It returned to New Market, where it received orders to proceed at once to the left of our lines on Hatcher's Run, to co-operate in a general movement against the enemy. The 1st Brigade struck the enemy's lines at the angle where their works began to retire, and crossed Hatcher's Run, silenced two forts, carrying one of them and the line of works between them by assault, capturing a large number of prisoners, guns, &c. Following up the general success against the enemy's lines, this Division in conjunction with the 1st Division and a portion of the 6th Army Corps, found itself confronting the enemy in the immediate vicinity of Petersburg, and bore its full part in the capture of the forts constituting the outer defence of that city. The operations of these troops on the 2d of April against these forts, viz: Whitworth and Gregg, and two or three smaller works, were performed under the eye of Lieutenant-General Grant, and are mentioned by him in his report with great approbation. The 3d Brigade captured Fort Whitworth and one or two smaller works, taking a large number of prisoners, whilst the 12th West Virginia Regiment operating in this Brigade, under Colonel Curtis, aided in taking Fort Gregg, and distinguished itself very greatly in the desperate hand to hand conflict which the attack on that fort involved. The colors of the 12th were the first planted on the works. The gallant color bearer, private J. R. Logsdon, of Company "C," was immediately shot dead upon planting the colors there. Several others of the regiment were killed inside the fort, among whom was the brave and gallant Lieutenant, Joseph Caldwell, of Company "C." Lieutenant Josiah M. Curtis, Corporal Andrew Apple and Private Joseph McCausland, of this Regiment, each won from the Government a mark of distinction for their gallant conduct in this terrible conflict. Major-General John Gibbon, commanding the Corps, presented to the Regiment a golden Eagle for their flag-staff, with the following inscription neatly engraved upon it, viz: "Presented by Major-General John Gibbon to the 12th West Virginia Volunteer Infantry, for gallant conduct in the assault upon Fort Gregg, April 2d, 1865."

In the pursuit of Lee's army, which followed, the 24th Army Corps bore a conspicuous part, and the West Virginia troops, by their gallantry and endurance, elicited warm expressions of admiration from the commander of the Corps, General Gibbon, as also from Major-General E. O. C. Ord, commanding the Army of the James. It was the 1st and 3d Divisions of the 24th Corps that formed a line across Lee's front on the morning of the 9th of April, at Appomattox Court-House, and brought from that commander the flag of truce which resulted in the capitulation and disbanding of the rebel Army of Northern Virginia, having marched on the 8th and morning of the 9th thirty-five miles to gain that position. This line was formed across the road leading to Lynchburg, on which Lee was retreating, and but for which, he might have continued his march.

The troops from West Virginia also claim, with pride, the honor of silencing the last battery that General Lee ever had put in position; this was effected by a skirmish line sent forward by General Harris, under Captain James A. Jarboe, of the 10th Regiment, armed with the Spencer seven-shooting rifle, closely sustained by the Brigade. Of this battery, two or three guns were captured.

After the surrender, the West Virginia troops marched to Lynchburg, to secure Government stores that had been accumulated at that point, after which they returned to Appomattox and marched thence to Richmond—a portion of the command was stationed at Burkesville a short time—where all except the recruits, in these organizations, were mustered out of the United States service, as follows: The Eleventh, on the 17th of June; Twelfth, on the 16th of June; and Fifteenth, on the 14th of June. The recruits of these organizations were transferred to the Tenth Regiment, with which they were mustered out on the 9th of August, 1865. From Richmond they proceeded to this city, and were paid off and finally discharged.

FIRST, SECOND AND THIRD CAVALRY.

Since the 1st of January, 1865, these regiments have been serving together in the same Brigade, being for the most of the time under command of Colonel—now Brevet Major-General—Henry Capehart, of the 1st Cavalry, and in the Cavalry Division commanded by Major-General George A. Custar. During the months of January and February they were stationed in the Shenandoah Valley, near Winchester, Virginia, where the command was placed in most complete discipline, and fully equipped for active operations. They were engaged, during the months mentioned, doing picket duty and in making frequent reconnoissances up the Valley to Strasburg and Front Royal, and east of Winchester to Berryville and the Shenandoah River. These Regiments then composed a part of the 3d Brigade 3d Cavalry Division, Middle Military Division.

On the 27th of February the command broke camp and moved with the Cavalry Corps, commanded by Major-General Sheridan, up the Shenandoah Valley, via Woodstock and Staunton, and participated in the engagement with the enemy under Early, at Waynesboro', Virginia, on the 2d of March; pushing on the same evening to Greenwood Depot, captured immense supplies of ammunition and other stores. The conduct of these Regiments in the engagement at Waynesboro' is mentioned as having been very meritorious. The next day the command moved to Charlottesville, and thence with the command of General Sheridan, on his grcat raid, which resulted in the complete destruction of more than fifty miles of the James River Canal, many miles of Railroad, a large number of bridges and a vast amount of property of great value to the enemy. The command arrived at White House on the 19th of March, where it remained in camp until the 24th; marched thence via Charles City Court House, and crossed the James River at Deep Bottom; remained in front of Petersburg until the 28th, when they moved in the direction of Dinwiddie Court House, and participated in the engagement at that place on the 30th and 31st. Here, on the morning of the 31st, the whole command was dismounted and fought as infantry, compelling the enemy to retire into his fortified position at Five Forks. On the morning of the 1st of April a most desperate engagement ensued, in which the 1st, 2d and 3d Cavalry won for themselves imperishable laurels. In the dispatches respecting this engagement this Brigade was especially mentioned. April 2d, marched to Ford's Station, on the South Side Railroad, where the 3d Cavalry, commanded by Lieutenant-Colonel Witcher, charged and drove a Brigade of rebel cavalry, killing the rebel General Pegram. April 3d, participated in the engagements at Deep Creek and Namozine Church, being actively and meritoriously engaged in each. On the 4th the command moved to Jettersville, on the Richmond and Danville Railroad, reaching that point, after a most tedious march, at about day break on the morning of the 5th; remained in line of battle all day, and on the morning of the 6th were in the first charge upon the enemy's lines at the battle of Sailor's Creek, and behaved with conspicuous gallantry throughout the whole engagement. On the 7th, moved through Prince Edwards Court House and reached Appomattox Court House on the 8th, when a most desperate engagement took place. In this engagement Major S. B. Howe, of the 1st Cavalry, was killed whilst gallantly leading his men in a charge upon the enemy at night. Early in the morning, on the 9th of April, the engagement was renewed, when this Brigade took part in the grand and final charge upon the flank of Lee's army, and witnessed the surrender of the rebel army of Northern Virginia to General Grant.

After the surrender the command marched to Petersburg, where it remained and rested until the 23d of April, when it moved to intercept Johnston's army in North Carolina; arriving at Halifax Court House on the 29th, orders were received to return to Petersburg, as that portion of the rebel army had been disposed of. About the 10th of May left Petersburg and marched to Richmond, thence to Washington City, arriving on the 17th; participated in the Grand Review in Washington on the 23d, and were honored by being placed at the head of the Cavalry column in the review. Remained at Washington until the 17th of June, when they were ordered to proceed to Louisville, Kentucky; but orders were issued whilst en route, for them to proceed to Wheeling for muster-out and final discharge, where they arrived on the 20th, and were shortly afterward mustered out, paid off and permitted to return to their homes.

SIXTH CAVALRY.

This is the only West Virginia organization remaining in the service. During the months of January and February it was stationed at Remount Camp, Pleasant Valley, Maryland. In March it was ordered to Washington City, and was engaged in doing Provost duty there until the 16th of June, when it received orders to proceed, with other troops, to Louisville, Kentucky; from Louisville it was ordered to Fort Leavenworth, Kansas, and thence across the plains into the Territories of Colorado and Dakota, where it is now stationed. Since its arrival in the Territories it has been frequently engaged with the Indians, and has been highly complimented for its gallantry.

I have not been able to procure reports from the Regiment to complete its history to this date, but hope the Regiment will be mustered out and returned to the State before this Report is printed; if so, I will endeavor to complete its history and have it published with the Report.

Every possible effort has been made to procure the discharge of this organization, but, as yet, without success. When information was received that the West Virginia Cavalry were ordered to Louisville, a telegram was sent by Your Excellency to the Secretary of War, requesting permission for them to delay, en route, at Parkersburg for thirty days, and opportunity given the men to visit their friends and families before proceeding farther South; to which a reply was received stating that "your request could not be granted consistently with the public interest." A few days afterward information was received from the Secretary of War that the 1st, 2d and 3d Cavalry, then en route to Louisville, had been ordered to report at this city for muster-out and discharge. Another telegram was then sent to the Secretary of War requesting the muster-out of this organization also, to which, the same reply was received.

In reply to a communication, written on the 18th of October to the Commanding General of the Department in which the regiment is serving, I was informed that the regiment was then west of Fort Laramie, Dakota Territory, and that it could not be mustered out until relieved by other troops; that it was so late in the season troops could not be got out there before spring, it being more than one thousand miles beyond Fort Leavenworth, and that the regiment would be relieved at the earliest possible moment.

SEVENTH CAVALRY.

Since the date of my last Report this Regiment has been stationed in the Kanawha Valley, occupying the following different posts: Charleston, Coalsmouth, Winfield, Point Pleasant and Guyandotte. Early in January two or three brigades of rebel troops was sent to winter in the counties immediately in front of these posts, and the regiment was kept very actively engaged during the winter, to prevent incursions by them, and in the protection of loyal citizens and their property. Several small engagements took place, in which a number of the enemy were killed, and about two hundred prisoners taken. About the 1st of February six officers and nearly one hundred and fifty men were discharged, by reason of expiration of term of service, but the regiment was immediately filled to the maximum by the muster-in of recruits.

From the time of the surrender of Lee's army the regiment was engaged in patrolling the twenty counties of South-western Virginia, composing the District of Kanawha, for the purpose of paroling returned rebels and maintaining order in the country—over five thousand rebels were paroled by the officers of this regiment. In June Colonel John H. Oley, who had been in command in the Kanawha Valley for a year previously, received an appointment as Brevet Brigadier-General, to rank from March 13th, 1865, for gallant and meritorious services in Western Virginia. The regiment was mustered out at Charleston, West Virginia, on the 1st day of August, 1865; whence it proceeded to this city for payment and final discharge.

From the foregoing short memorandum of the service of West Virginia troops in the field, and the memoranda of the operations of each organization published in my former report, it will be seen that they have made a record for themselves and their State which will rank them second to no troops in the world; a record of which they and their state may well be proud. Their patriotic devotion to their country; their gallantry and heroism; their fortitude and endurance, and the intelligence with which they have fought have called forth from all the General officers under whom they have served, from the Lieut. General of the Armies of the United States, and from the Honorable Secretary of War, expressions of the highest admiration and appreciation.

The different West Virginia organizations were mustered out as follows:

First Veteran Infantry, at Cumberland, Md., July 21, 1865.

Second Veteran Infantry, at Clarksburg, W. Va., July 16, 1865.

Sixth Infantry, at Wheeling, June 10, 1865.

Seventh Infantry, at Munson's Hill, Va., July 1, 1865.

Tenth Infantry, at Richmond, Va., August 9, 1865.

Eleventh Infantry, at Richmond, Va., June 17, 1865.

Twelfth Infantry, at Richmond, Va., June 16, 1865.

Thirteenth Infantry, at Wheeling, W. Va., June 22, 1865.

Fourteenth Infantry, at Cumberland, Md., June 27, 1865.

Fifteenth Infantry, at Richmond, Va., June 14, 1865.

Seventeenth Infantry, at Wheeling, W. Va., June 30, 1865.

First Cavalry, at Wheeling, W. Va., July 8, 1865.

Second Cavalry, at Wheeling, W. Va., June 30, 1865.

Third Cavalry, at Wheeling, W. Va., June 30, 1865.

Seventh Cavalry, at Charleston, W. Va., August 1, 1865.

The several Batteries of Artillery were all mustered out, at Wheeling, as follows:

Battery "A," (being "A" and "F" consolidated,) July 21, 1865; Battery "C," June 28, 1865; Battery "D," June 27, 1865; Battery "E," (being "B" and "E" consolidated,) June 28, 1865; and Battery "H," July 11, 1865.

FLAGS.

Prior to the date of my last report new colors were presented by the State to several regiments, and we had received in return their old flags. By an order issued by the Secretary of War, on the 14th of June, the colors of the different organizations, as they were mustered out, were directed to be turned over to the Governor of the State. These are now in possession of the State, and constitute a very interesting portion of the record and evidence of the gallantry of our troops. Though most of them are tattered and torn, and mere shreds, torn by bullets and shell, so that there scarcely remains more than the staff upon which they were borne, yet, they possess an interest to those who have marched and fought under them, that is incalculable. Some provision should be made for their careful preservation.

At the last session of the Legislature resolutions were adopted directing the purchase of colors for the various organizations, which had not been previously presented with such. By direction of Your Excellency, flags were procured for the following regiments: 1st and 2d Veteran Infantry, and the 11th, 12th, 13th, 14th and 15th Infantry Regiments, and for the 2d and 3d Cavalry, at an aggregate cost of twelve hundred and eighty-one dollars and sixty cents. These flags bear inscriptions of the principal engagements in which the several regiments have participated, and are very beautifully executed. Before they could be presented to the regiments for which they were intended, they were mustered out of service. But, bearing as they do, the names of some of the most severe engagements ever fought on this continent, they should be carefully preserved as mementoes of the part the soldiers from West Virginia took in the great national struggle.

MILITIA.

No further attempt has been made to organize the Militia since the date of my last report. It was impossible to do so in a large number of the counties before the suppression of the rebellion, and it was believed that when the war ended, some very material and necessary changes would be made in the militia system of the State.

I do not think that any attempt to organize and discipline the Militia under our present system, would result in much good; it would be worse indeed, than attempting nothing. Under the present system the whole body of the Militia are required to assemble three or four times annually, for drill and instruction; twice in company, and once or twice, (at the discretion of the officers) in regimental musters, making in the whole, not more than six or eight hours drill and instruction annually.

It is not pretended, I hope, that in this time either officers or men will acquire any knowledge of drill or discipline. But all the able-bodied men in the State, between the ages of 18 and 45 years, are obliged to attend these "musters," as they are called, or be subject to such fine as the Regimental Court of Enquiry, may, in their discretion, see fit to impose upon them. These "musters" are attended from different motives, but by none, I think, who expect to be instructed in any principle of drill necessary to make them soldiers, for the reason that the officers are not educated in their duties respecting the military, and it is generally believed, and correctly too, that the officers know but little more than the men. Of course there are honorable exceptions, but speaking generally it is true. These musters have always been, under the present system, a burlesque on military organizations.

It has been quaintly, but very truly said, that "the secret of military art lay in the legs." If the militia are properly taught the different evolutions in the school of the company, and the field movements of a battalion or regiment, they will very soon learn all else necessary to make them efficient soldiers; this is particularly true with respect to the people of this State, nine-tenths of whom understand perfectly the use of fire-arms—I do not mean that they understand the manual of arms, as taught the soldier—but they know how to load and fire a gun.

Unless the present militia law, requiring the whole body of the militia to “muster,” is materially and radically changed, I think the whole law should be repealed and the system abolished. What must be the feelings of the veteran soldier who has served in the army for three or four years, and who is acquainted with drill and discipline, when he is compelled to submit himself to be dragged through the streets and over the fields by officers who know nothing whatever of their duties? Besides, in a country like our own, many of the counties but sparsely settled, at every time the people are required to “muster” they lose a whole day in going to and returning from the place of muster, and are drilled (or bored rather) for two hours. The militia force of this State will amount to, perhaps, seventy or eighty thousand; suppose they are required to muster four times annually, estimating every day to be worth at least one dollar to every able-bodied man, there would be a loss to the State, or to the people of the State, of about three hundred thousand dollars annually. I say a loss, because I think it is clear, no practical good can result from six or eight hours drill in a year. But it may be objected, that the assembling together of the militia is necessary, to know what available force we have, should there be a necessity to call it out. This information can be much more satisfactorily obtained by requiring the Assessors of the counties, whose duty it is to canvass the whole county annually, to ascertain and report the number of men between the ages of 18 and 45 years.

I believe it is both impracticable and unprofitable to require the whole body of the militia to do duty. But some system should be devised to render the militia effective in case of necessity. The best system, I think, would be the organization of a certain proportion of the militia in each county into companies; the county to be laid off into districts, and a number assigned to each district, to be furnished in proportion to the enrollment in such district. The proportion of each may then be furnished, by the organization of volunteer companies to serve for a certain period, to be raised within a given time, and if not furnished within that time, provision should be made to draft the requisite number to fill the quota of such district. Organizations of this character should then be required to go into camp for at least one month annually for drill and instruction, and should be paid a reasonable compensation for the time they would thus be required to be on duty.

But as being less expensive, and perhaps as productive of nearly as good results, I would suggest that a law should be passed requiring the assessors of the several counties to make a complete enrollment of all able-bodied men in each county, between the ages of 18 and 45 years, to be corrected by them annually, and returns made to the Adjutant General of the State, of the number enrolled by them ; that there should be appointed, say, for every two hundred men enrolled, three commissioned and thirteen non-commissioned officers—the proper number for a company of one hundred men—and a Lieutenant-Colonel, Major and Adjutant for every thousand men enrolled, or a Colonel, Lieutenant-Colonel, Major and Adjutant for every two thousand men enrolled. This proportion of officers, I think would be sufficient, as it is not probable more than one-half the militia, would be called into active service at any one time.

The Field Officers mentioned, should be selected with respect to their military qualifications, and should be required to pass an acceptable examination before a military board, created for that purpose. These officers would constitute the instructors for the other commissioned and non-commissioned officers. The officers and non-commissioned officers thus appointed should be required to meet for drill and instruction at least two days in each of the months of April, May, June, September, October and November, or be required to go into camp for instruction a certain time, say fifteen or twenty days annually, and should be provided with the latest and most approved tactics in use in the United States army ; they should also be furnished with arms and accoutrements, and should be thoroughly taught in the school of the soldier, company and in the field movements of a battalion or regiment. In this way we would have one hundred and sixty-four drilled commissioned and non-commissioned officers for every two thousand men enrolled. These distributed among the militia, if a necessity occurred to call them out, would be competent in a very short time, to make a very efficient organization. A company of one hundred men, with thirteen well instructed non-commissioned officers in it, could, in a few hours, be taught any movement of the company necessary in the field of active service. These officers must, of course, be paid a reasonable compensation for the time they will be required to be on duty ; and this may be an objection to the system, but, that all able-bodied men subject to military duty may be required to contribute to the support of those who do the duty, I would suggest that all such be assessed and required to pay into the treasury annually the sum of one or two dollars, in lieu of, or as a commutation for military services. This would be sufficient to pay all the necessary expenses of this system. This money, however, under the Constitution of the State, would go into the fund for education. It would place ten times more into the treasury for this purpose, than is now obtained from the militia under the present system of fines for non-attendance at musters, &c.; the additional fund which is now required to be appropriated for school purposes could be appropriated for the expenses of the militia.

A Board can be created, from the officers appointed, for the trial of any offences necessary to be tried by a military court; to assess fines against delinquents amongst commissioned and non-commissioned officers; they should also be authorized to hear and determine all applications for exemption from military duty, or from the payment of the commutation for military services, and should certify annually to the assessor or assessors of the county, lists of all exemptions made by them. Rules for exemption to be established by law.

I can see but one difficulty in making this system practicable, that is, in the appointment of the officers proposed, or rather, in finding men in the different portions of the counties to accept these positions. I think, however, if they are paid reasonably for the time they are required to be on duty, and after serving in this capacity for a certain period, they are exempted from all ordinary military duty and from the payment of commutation in lieu of military service, that it will be sufficient inducement to provide as many officers as may be required.

There would, no doubt be other enactments necessary to carry into effect the system proposed, but I think, altogether, the system may be made very plain and simple, and would undoubtedly be much better than the system we now have.

CONCLUSION.

I cannot conclude this report without mentioning my pleasant and most satisfactory intercourse with the officers, soldiers and citizens of this State. When circumstances would permit, the officers of the different organizations have always been prompt in furnishing me any reports or information I might require, and in retiring from the service to peaceful pursuits, officers and soldiers have my best wishes for their future success, and hope they may succeed as well as citizens as they have as soldiers. During the war we were surprised at the rapidity with which our citizens were converted into good soldiers. Upon their muster-out they have returned to be good citizens just as readily.

The people of this State deserve great credit for the part they have so nobly borne in our great national struggle; with an enrollment in the State of little more than sixty thousand men, subject to military duty at the commencement of the war, over thirty-one thousand have been in the service of the United States. Besides this, nearly the whole of the militia force of the State have been called out at different times to repel expected invasions by the enemy. Home Guard Companies have existed in nearly all the border counties, and have been on duty for weeks at a time, and more than one thousand men have been organized into companies of "State Guards," for the protection of the border against guerrillas, and have served for periods varying from one to three years. They have suffered severely from repeated raids by the enemy, and many counties have been occupied, alternately by the two armies, ever since the breaking out of the rebellion.

I desire to express my most sincere thanks to Brevet Major E. P. Hudson, Acting Assistant Provost Marshal General for this State, and to Captain George McGown, U. S. A., Mustering and Disbursing Officer, at this Post, for their uniform kindness in furnishing me any information I have requested respecting the muster-in and muster-out of our troops—information which I could not have procured very readily from other sources. They deserve to be favorably mentioned too for the promptness with which they have attended to the muster-out and final discharge of the various organizations sent to this city for discharge; and for their kindness in the settlement of the accounts of officers of our regiments. They are both able and efficient officers, and have well deserved, as they have received, the commendation of all with whom they have had to do in an official capacity.

I also desire to express my obligations and thanks to Mr. James E. Hanes, who has been clerk in this office since 1st of November, 1864, for the faithfulness and intelligence with which he has discharged his duties. He served three years in the army and was honorably discharged, and deserves to be favorably mentioned and remembered.

The expenses of my office during the year are as follows :

For Clerk hire-----	$800 00
For contingent expenses-----	525 50
Total-----	$1,325 50

I have the honor to be,

Very Respectfully, Your Obedient Servant,

F. P. PEIRPOINT,

Adjutant General.
